What's New

Technical Communication Careers: A Day in the Life of a Technical Communicator

By Christina Mayr, Immediate Past President The world of technical communication is diverse and career paths can vary greatly. At STC Carolina, we cater to writers, editors, illustrators, user experience professionals, and content managers in high tech, healthcare, government, nonprofits, finance, education, and many more industries. If you've ever wondered how to get into technical communication, now is your chance to ask some experts. On October 19th, we're hosting a panel discussion with four technical communicators. This is a free event, so register today! Ingrid Towey, Senior Technical Editor, Red Hat ::::Ingrid Towey believes in the WriteUX. She combines technical writing with UX (User eXperience) skills to create documents th
